

Elmer Thomas Park

Named after U.S. Representative and Senator, John William Elmer Thomas (1876-1965), Elmer Thomas Park hosts 334 acres of indoor and outdoor recreation. Here, you can fish the shores of Lake Helen, walk/bike the paths, watch the wildlife or host a picnic. Kids can play on the playground year-round, and during the summer months can utilize the splash pad to keep cool. The park is also home to several monuments honoring veterans of various wars, statues, memorials, fountains, and informational podiums throughout the area. When you're done exploring outdoors, you can head inside the Comanche National Museum and Cultural Center or check if an event is happening at McMahon Auditorium.

The Elmer Thomas Park Outer Loop is a 2.3 mile paved path around the perimeter of Elmer Thomas Park. The cement/asphalt path is typically at least 6 feet wide and has a manageable grade of less than 5% in most areas, making it a great place for a casual stroll. The rest of the park features approximately 2 more miles of paths composed of compacted soil and gravel.
